

Easy Read - Your Rights

What are your rights?

	This document tells you about your rights.
	Australian laws respect the rights of people with disability and older people. The laws say you: • Should be included in community life • Have the same rights as all other Australians.
	What are your human rights? You should be: • Safe in your home and anywhere else • Treated with respect • Part of your cultural community • Able to access a doctor if you need one.
	You should be able to: • Participate in your religion • Express your sexuality and gender identity • Communicate in your preferred language.

Easy Read - Your Rights

	When working with [redacted] and other providers , you also have rights .
	You have the right to: • Receive safe and quality services • Tell us what you want and be listened to • Choose the type of support worker you want • Make your own choices and decisions.
	You also have the right to: • Be safe • Get help when you need it • Try new things and take risks.
	How does [redacted] respect your rights? [redacted] will: • Keep you safe • Show you respect and respect your privacy • Treat you well • Help you make your own choices • Listen to you • Involve your family, advocate and other support carers (if you want us to).
	We will also: • Ask you to tell us what supports you want and the type of worker you need and want • Keep your personal information private.

Easy Read - Your Rights

	We can also help you find an advocate if you need one.
	You can safely: • Make complaints and provide feedback to us • Tell us you want to use another provider.
	We will follow your instructions. If we believe you may get hurt, we will talk to you or your advocate/ family about the risks involved to make sure you can make an informed decision to help keep you safe.
	We also make sure our support workers follow our Code of Conduct Agreement
	You can contact us on: